

GIRL COULD NOT WORK

How She Was Relieved from Pain by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Taunton, Mass.—"I had pains in both sides and when my periods came I had to stay at home from work and suffer a long time. One day a woman came to our house and asked my mother why I was suffering. Mother told her that I suffered every month and she said, 'Why don't you buy a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?' My mother bought it and the next month I was so well that I worked all the month without staying at home a day. I am in good health now and have told lots of girls about it."—Miss CLARICE MORIN, 22 Russell Street, Taunton, Mass.

Thousands of girls suffer in silence every month rather than consult a physician. If girls who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, headache, dragging-down sensations, fainting spells or indigestion would take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a safe and pure remedy made from roots and herbs, much suffering might be avoided.

'CALL OF CHRIST' SUBJECT OF LAST TALK BY BROOKS

Popular Berkeley Pastor Ends Series of Sunday Night Sermons in Opera House

Delivering the last of a series of Sunday night addresses to the people of Honolulu, Dr. Raymond C. Brooks, the popular Berkeley, Cal., pastor spoke to a large audience in the Opera House Sunday evening on 'The Call of Christ.'

In addition to the address the evening was featured by a special musical program. Mrs. A. B. Ingham, violin solo, Richard Wagner's 'Albion,' made a splendid offering. Dr. Brooks said, in part:

"I suppose it is clear to all of us that our understanding of the message of Jesus has been somewhat modified by the conditions under which we live. I hope it is equally clear that the essential character of it has in no way been changed because we have come to a somewhat different viewpoint from that of the earlier centuries in its interpretation. Even at the risk of repeating some things I have tried to say let me venture again to suggest certain respects in which our viewpoint has changed.

"In the first place we have come to see that the essential message of Christ is more likely to be found within our agreements than in our differences. That is to say, the Presbyterian is perfectly ready to recognize the Christian character of the Methodist, the Baptist, and so to recognize that that which is really essential belongs to them all.

"This is really more significant than at first sight appears. It means, for example, that the religion of Jesus is not to be identified with any institution, important and necessary though the church is. No church ever has or is ever likely adequately to represent Christianity and it is a grave mistake of the church to suppose that the future of the Gospel depends upon the future of the church.

"In like manner it means that the Gospel of Christ is not to be identified with any system of doctrine. The faith which Christ asks of men is not the acceptance of a system of ideas supernaturally communicated. He asks rather that we should dare always to live with the open mind, that we should dare to commit our lives to the leadership of the spirit of truth.

"In three ways at least our approach to the message of Jesus has been helped by the conditions under which we live. What, then, is His message?

"He is continually telling men of a God who is the Father of Mankind, whose name from everlasting is Love, who waits to forgive those who have been in the far country. God's love is like the sky over us—broad enough and deep enough and strong enough to hold us all with a power that we do not let us go. It is not a matter of theory, but a matter of experience, repeated over thousands and thousands of times, that those who hear and heed His message and begin earnestly to live as children of God, in the spirit of the Son of God, find their own lives renewed and transformed.

"What is the call of Christ to men? Four simple words sum it up.

"Come. 'Come unto me. Learn of me.' He said it to all sorts of people. It is the first step in discipleship.

"Follow. 'Follow me.' Once more he said it to all who were willing to learn the way of life through him. Dare to measure your life in terms of Christ's own spirit.

"Abide. 'Abide in me.' Great and good purposes pass away so readily under the heat and burden of the day. He who is worthy of discipleship must abide in the face of difficulties. Christ does not call men to be happy. He does not invite men to prepare for Heaven. Those who came to Him made no mistake about that.

"Go into all the world.' Jesus never said 'go' to those who were not willing to learn of Him; to those who hesitated to follow Him; to those who could not abide in the face of misunderstanding and difficulty.

"Never has the world had greater need of men and women who are willing to hear and heed the call of Christ."

WIFE OF WEALTHY OLD MAN GETS A DIVORCE

RENO, Nev.—Augusta Walker, wife of Chandler Walker, president of the Walker Distillery Company of Walkerville, Ontario, Canada, has been granted a decree of divorce in the District Court here on the ground of cruelty.

She told the Court with no small degree of hesitation that her husband is about 73 years old, while her age is but 32. Mrs. Walker said her husband was of a very jealous, fault-finding disposition and had interpreted her desire for the companionship of men and women of her own age to an entirely wrong motive.

Walker is said to be a millionaire. Within two hours after explaining to District Judge Stoddard in her suit for divorce that it was impossible for a young woman to live happily as the wife of an old man, Mrs. Augusta Walker became the bride of E. John Northrop of Ontario, Canada, who is 35 years old. The bride is 32.

FUJIMOTO CASE ONCE MORE PUT OFF FOR HEARING

The case of M. Fujimoto, accused of killing H. Emoto in his bed on the J. B. Castle premises a week ago, was called in police court this morning and continued again to Thursday on request of the prosecution. On Friday the defendant will be arraigned before the grand jury.

Prosecutor Chillingworth explained to Attorneys William J. Sheldon and Lorrin Andrews, representing the defense, that no connected answers have as yet been received from the injured woman at the Queen's hospital, Tome Imoto, upon whose testimony the prosecution hopes to rest most of its case.

Arthur McDuffie, chief of detectives, says, although Tome seems to be rational enough at times that she shows her incapability to testify connectedly by continually asking for the husband although she has been told on several occasions that he is dead.

There is an increasing and more openly expressed belief in Japanese circles that Fujimoto, through jealousy, did not commit the crime else he would have tried hari-kiri immediately afterwards. These Japanese say also that several hundred dollars which Emoto received shortly before his death is missing.

On the other hand other Japanese point the finger of suspicion at Fujimoto.

RAILROAD TO ENGELS COPPER COMPANY PLANT WILL COST $275,000

That the cost of the railroad to be built to the Engels Copper Company property will not be $800,000 as has been reported, but will be nearer to one-third of that figure, is the information received in an official cablegram from the office of the company by a local banker. This cablegram was an answer to inquiries which the banker made for persons here interested in the company. It says that the cost will be about $275,000. Other advices are to the effect that the road is to be completed in the course of five months.

Local stockholders were surprised when they saw in print the report of $800,000 cost for railroad construction, an amount much larger than had ever been spoken of by any of those in authority in the affairs of the company, and will be reassured over the official figures that are given out.

STATISTICIAN ON SUGAR RESIGNS FROM H. C. S. CO.

Secretary Goes to Europe to Examine Into Beet Sugar Industry

High tribute to the business ability of Emil Tschumi, who has just retired from the secretaryship of the Hawaiian Commercial & Sugar Company, is given in the San Francisco Examiner under date of August 8. The article says:

The West has lost its greatest sugar statistician. Emil Tschumi resigned his position as secretary of the Hawaiian Commercial & Sugar Company at the beginning of the current month and went East. Wherever sugar is dealt in Tschumi's name is known. By common consent of sugar men Tschumi is tacitly admitted to possess a more intimate knowledge concerning the statistical position of the Hawaiian sugar companies than any other man in the business. Tschumi believed in sugar, thought sugar, talked sugar, and, presumably, ate sugar. All that was worth knowing about it he knew. Incidentally, the recent rise in sugar stocks has made a comfortable fortune for Emil Tschumi, for it was his custom to invest all his surplus earnings in sugar securities.

According to a friend, it is Tschumi's intention to go to Europe and make a personal examination of the reserves of beet sugar in the central empires—if they will permit him to do so. Preparatory to this, he proposes to take a trip to Cuba and also to survey the Porto Rican sugar plantations. Equipped with these new statistics, Tschumi proposes to enter the sugar business in New York.

R. O. Hogg has succeeded Emil Tschumi in the office of secretary of the Hawaiian Commercial & Sugar Company.

F. F. Baldwin of Alexander & Baldwin, fiscal agents for the Hawaiian, said:

Tschumi resigned of his own volition, and, in fact, insisted upon it. He has gone East, but I am not familiar with his plans. I can only say that the company was sorry to lose his very valuable services.

STANDARD OIL CO. DETERMINES UPON NEW IMPROVEMENTS

The size and number of the tanks to be built on recently acquired property at Iwilei by the Standard Oil Company has been determined. As told in the Star-Bulletin several weeks ago, a piece of land 125 feet wide was purchased by the oil company from the O. R. & L. Co.

Four tanks are to be built on it; two of 50,000 barrel capacity and two settling tanks 15 feet in diameter and 35 feet in height. Calor fuel oil will be kept in one of the big tanks and in the other a 27 degree oil.

Lack of steel is holding construction work up but it is hoped that the tanks will be built this year.

Great Hukilau Net Built For Mrs. Mary Foster

Huge Fish-Trap to Be Used By Hawaiians at Kahana, Windward Oahu

For "hukilau" fishing—in which a whole Hawaiian community can and does take part—a monster net has been built for Mrs. Mary E. Foster, who owns valuable fishing rights at Kahana, on windward Oahu.

The net, built at the Pearl Harbor peninsula under the supervision of George Allen, has wings 200 feet in length, a "pocket" 82 feet long and with a 64-foot surface, with three "purses" inside the pocket, and a special draw-string arrangement so that if big fish are caught which are likely to injure the net they can be "shot through" to freedom without emptying the purses of their haul of edible fish. The "lau," or pulling ropes which determine the spread of the net, are 1400 feet each in length.

The net is now at Allen's home at the Peninsula, but will be taken to Kahana and doubtless some great "hukilau" will be held. Interest in this form of fishing has gone high since the big party at Wai'alua at which Mayor Lane was host a few weeks ago, and when the net at Kahana is put into operation it is likely to figure at some notable events.

Mrs. Foster took a keen interest in the construction of the net and personally did some of the work of preparing it.

DO THIS FIRST—YOU!

You know, and every physician knows, that when any sickness has passed, whether it be throat trouble, organic disturbances, contagious diseases, or even a severe cold, a relapse is feared, because sickness robs the system of Nature's resistance and leaves it subject to lingering germs. Drugs never build up a worn-out body—only food can do that, and the first thing to take after any sickness is the concentrated, blood-making oil-food in Scott's Emulsion, which feeds the tissues, benefits the blood and strengthens both lungs and throat.

Physicians prescribe Scott's Emulsion after sickness. Nurses everywhere advocate it. Scott's is pure medicinal food, without alcohol or drugs.
